Lease Types

FleetPlus offers potentially, scalable and cost-effective options which can be customised to your business requirements.

Operating Lease

An Operating Lease offers a fixed monthly repayment which covers the leasing of your vehicles. You don't build equity in your fleet, however your organisation could claim the full lease expense and running costs as a tax deduction. End of lease options include - extending the lease, upgrading to a new vehicle, returning the vehicle to FleetPlus or offering to purchase the vehicle.

Finance Lease

With a FleetPlus Finance Lease you make tax-deductible, fixed monthly repayments and pay a set residual amount to own, hand back or upgrade the vehicle at the end of the lease. Other end of the lease options include extending the lease with FleetPlus.

Small Business, Big Winners

All FleetPlus Lease customers also benefit from national fleet discounts on new vehicles and great prices on used vehicles, simple monthly repayments, discounted fuel and maintenance, 24/7 Roadside Assistance, discounted aftermarket products, competitive Insurance products and the experience of the Dedicated Customer Relationship Team at FleetPlus.

Frequently Asked Questions

Is there a minimum number of vehicles I need to lease to make it worthwhile?

No. From our vehicle purchasing power, to complimentary roadside assistance and fuel card discounts – the savings are realised straightaway with a FleetPlus lease no matter how many vehicles are in your fleet.

Will leasing vehicles create more paperwork and reporting?

FleetPlus can make the entire process as straightforward and streamlined as possible. From the simple and fast credit process, to your maintenance records your dedicated relationship manager will provide assistance with comprehensive reporting.

How long are lease terms?

Most leases are structured for a minimum of two years, up to a maximum of five years. FleetPlus will help you to determine the most cost-effective lease terms according to the type of vehicle you are leasing.

How to Apply
